

MODERN LUXURY

BOSTON COMMON

Paolo Costagli's emerald-cut Mahenge Malaya garnet ring in 18K rose gold with pavé-set round, brilliant diamonds, $15,500

CLUB CULTURE

GOLDEN TICKET

There's a new society in town, and no invitation is needed. Lee Doyle, Juan Pietro and Mariana Antinori recently founded jewelry membership club DomusAurea ("Golden House" in Latin; domusaurea.us), which shares "one-of-a-kind, rare pieces from all over the world," says Antinori. Hosting events in Boston and across the country, DomusAurea aspires to "bring together people who have the same love of jewelry," explains Pietro. With designers hailing from Italy to India, each item is worthy of a museum... or your home. —KA